Law from 1957, some articles are redundant (e.g. no cows allowed on campsite), but until now, all developments in our sector could be handled in a flexible way with this law, and it gives a lot of freedom when it comes to pitch use, so we are not eager to change it.	/

Norway	Yes / Oui	Local government / Administration locale		Yes / Oui	Yes / Oui	Yes - applies to just some types of accommodation / Oui - s'applique uniquement à certains types d'hébergement	Yes / Oui	To run a campsite, it must be regulated. The regulation contains how many motorhomes, caravans, cabins and tents there can be on the campsite. The number of campsites is registered in Statistics Norway. The same applies to the number of guest nights in motorhomes, caravans, tents and cabins.	It is important to get local authorities not to establish their own motorhome campsites and pitches without them being registered. This distorts competition and is very unfortunate for the campsites located nearby.

If everything is ok, an exploitation permit will be issued (following new audits each five years, to maintain or review the classification in case things changed), this always with the Town Hall. First thing to do is to register the exploitation permit at the National Tourism Register (RNT), obtaining the register number for the tourist unit (campsite). This (RNT) number is mandatory to develop any touristic activity, namely to work online and must be clearly seen in the web page, a.s.o	The National Tourism Register (RNT) gathers mandatory information filled in and updated by the operators of tourism enterprises and companies, tourist entertainment agents and travel and tourism agencies. The platform on which the RNT is based allows for a separate consultation of different areas of tourist activity, namely Registo Nacional dos Empreendimentos Turísticos (RNET) where campsites are included. All legal campsites, as well as hotels have a RNET number, the same way as local lodgings (alojamento local) have a RNAL number or entertainment operators have a RNAAT number, Registo Nacional dos Agentes de Animação Turística, or travel agencies have their RNAVT number Nacional das Agências de Viagens e Turismo. The National Register of Tourist Enterprises (RNET) is part of the National Tourism Register (RNT) and consists of the updated list of tourist enterprises with a valid opening title, which includes, among others, the name, classification, the capacity, the location of the enterprise, the respective geographic coordinates, the address, the periods of operation, as well as the identification of the respective operator. Tourist units must be registered in the RNET by their owners or operating entities, within 30 days from the date of the valid title of opening to the public, these entities being responsible for the accuracy of the information they provide for this purpose. Any facts that constitute a change to those elements must be communicated by the operator to Turismo de Portugal, I.P., within 10 days of their verification, by means of a registration made directly at RNET registration online. The act of registering tourist enterprises in the RNET triggers the administrative procedures of classification, including adopting specific working contracts and other legal obligations. With the registration in the RNET, a registration number is assigned, which must be included on the identification plate of the tourist units. The registration number must appear on the electronic platforms that make available, advertise or sell tourist accommodation.
